

I am adamantly opposed to any rules or laws that would allow greater bandwidth to any internet entity over another. All internet content providers must have equal access with no preference to any by internet service providers or any entity that can influence internet access.